						The facts of the current offenses are included but not limited to the following: On 4/13/2023, the IP was arrested in a residence by the Mendocino Major Crimes Task Force and other law enforcement per a warrant. Upon search of the residence, large sums of illegal substances were located, included but not limited to methamphetamine, cocaine, morphine, fentanyl, multiple digital scales, packing materials, ammunition, US currency, body armor, oxycodone, Adderall, and various commercial quantities of substances. Electronics were also obtained and later revealed information regarding the sales of various controlled substances. Collateral Information and cases also include evidence that the IP was involved in various other crimes involving check/credit fraud, possession of other various illegal substances and ammunition, driving with a suspended license, a collision which may have involved alcohol, various traffic stops, a stolen dog and break in, and admissions to drug use such as marijuana and meth. The IP pleads to the current crimes, dismissing other charges with a Harvey waiver. Based on the totality of the facts concerning the plea, there is evidence that the IP drove a vehicle under the influence. See 1/5/2022 BAC of .112% and self-admit that she drank appx. a "fifth of vodka" per day, up until the day prior to her arrest on 5/5/2023. The various crimes occurred between 2021 - 2023. After careful review and consideration of the aggravating and mitigating circumstances in all of the current crimes, there are aggravating circumstances in the case and the following aggravating circumstances make this an aggravating factor in the case: 1. There were one or more victims who suffered physical injury or threat of physical injury. Based on the totality of facts surrounding the plea, it is clear the IP drove a vehicle at time when under the influence of substances. Driving under the influence places the General Public under threat of physical injury. The IP was driving with a suspended license on numerous occasions, again, placing the General Public under threat of physical injury. Therefore, the current commitment offense is found to be an aggravating risk factor in the case. Case Factor #2 – Prior Criminal Record The prior criminal history began in 2006 and continued until the commitment offenses in 2023. The Prior Criminal Record is a factor aggravating the current risk of violence or significant criminal activity. 						from Northern Circle Indian Housing Authority dated 4/20/2026. SUMMARY: When reviewing all of the case factors as documented above, and taking into account the totality of the circumstances, including the passage of time, the factors aggravating the current risk of violence or significant criminal activity outweigh the factors mitigating the current risk of violence or significant criminal activity. Under the review criteria, the IP's current commitment offense, prior criminal record, and institutional behavior are considered aggravating. The IP's current offense involved the threat of physical injury to victims. She was free from incarceration for less than five years before her current convictions. Coupled with the current multiple convictions, the IP demonstrates a pattern of criminal conduct that is increasing in severity by volume of criminal conduct and victims affected. The IP has incurred a recent serious RVR within the last 12 months. The IP has yet to successfully participate in vocational, educational or work assignments, or self-help and rehabilitative programming to address the circumstances of her criminal behavior, for a sustained period. For these reasons, the IP poses a current, unreasonable risk of violence or a current, unreasonable risk of significant criminal activity to the community. The Incarcerated Person is denied for release. Eleanore Adams

Statement of Reasons: Case Factor #1 – Current Commitment Offense The circumstances of the Incarcerated Person's current commitment offenses aggravate the Incarcerated Person's current risk of violence or significant criminal activity. The Incarcerated Person was sentenced to a total term of 6 years on the current commitment offenses. The commitment offenses are Mendocino County Case No. 24CR05272: PC452(c) Causing Fire of Forest Land with PC452.1(a) Felony Arson in Violation of PC452 with Special Circumstances [two counts] The facts of the current offense(s) are: Count 1: On 08/20/2024, a vegetation fire was reported on the side of a road, estimated to be approximately 10 feet x 20 feet. The IP was observed standing in the grassy/vineyard-type area in close proximity to one edge of the fire. He told the officers that he started the fire and was burning paper. A square area of wood was observed in the fire, which the IP said was a wooden pallet. He further stated that he had permission from the property owner to start the fire, but did not know the property owner's name. The officers went to the property the IP indicated gave him permission; the resident said she had not given anyone permission to light a fire in the vineyard.

						A search of the IP upon his arrest revealed a used pipe on one side of the tree coated in a white crystalline substance, and a working lighter. They also located a cigarette wrapper with a white crystalline substance, later confirmed to be methamphetamine. Count 2: On 10/31/2024 at approximately 2:00 a.m., calls were made to law enforcement reporting a fire near Highway 101. Officers responded to the area and observed heavy smoke at an intersection, then flames in an empty private lot near a bridge over Highway 101. The officer exited his patrol car and walked to the location, where he observed the IP standing under a tree near the fire. There were various personal possessions of the IP around the base of the tree. The fire was observed to be an uncontained vegetation fire approximately 2 feet x 2 feet, containing sticks and branches and surrounded by other flammable materials including hay. The IP told the officer he had been in the area collecting walnuts and got cold, and the fire was a "warming fire" for himself, and that he was the only person in the area. The police officer called the fire department, which came and extinguished the fire. The fire chief, who arrived to assist, told the police officer that he knew the IP from the above-described fire-setting incident on 10/31/2024, for which the IP was out on bail. A search of the area of the fire revealed a used pipe on one side of the tree coated in a white crystalline substance, and a search of the IP revealed a working lighter in his pants pocket. The IP told officers he was a frequent methamphetamine user and had been for approximately 30 years and purchased around $50 of meth per week. Due to his prior arson convictions, the IP was prohibited from possessing lighters. After careful review and consideration of the aggravating and mitigating circumstances in all of the current crimes, there are aggravating circumstance(s) in the case and the following aggravating circumstance(s) make this an aggravating factor in the case: There were one or more victims who suffered threat of physical injury. By committing the act of arson, the IP exposed those nearby, including nearby residents, passersby, and responding law enforcement and fire abatement officials, to great bodily injury or death caused directly by the fires ignited by the IP. The victims were further subjected to serious injury or death during their attempt to extinguish the fire and flee the area. Therefore, the Current Commitment Offense is found to be an aggravating risk factor in the case. Case Factor #2 – Prior Criminal Record The prior criminal history began in 1988 and continued until the commitment offenses in 2025. The Prior Criminal Record is a factor mitigating the current risk of violence or significant criminal activity. The Incarcerated Person has the following adult criminal convictions: • 07/1988: PC451(d) Arson of Property [two counts] • 05/1990: HS11350 Possession of a Controlled Substance • 06/2010: HS11366.5(A) Managing a Building Used for Manufacturing/Storing/Distributing Controlled Substances The circumstances of the Prior Criminal Record that mitigate the current risk of violence or significant criminal activity are: The Incarcerated Person has not been convicted of a violent felony as defined in subdivision (c) of section 667.5 of the Penal Code in the past 15 years or otherwise. The Incarcerated Person was free from incarceration for a misdemeanor conviction involving physical injury to a victim or a felony conviction for five years or more prior to the current convictions. The circumstances of the Prior Criminal Record that aggravate the current risk of violence or significant criminal activity are: There are no aggravating circumstances. Case Factor #3 – Institutional Adjustment The Incarcerated Person was received into the California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation on the current commitment offense(s) on May 12, 2025, a period of approximately 9 months. The Incarcerated Person has been involved in the following activities: Serious RVRs – None Reliable Confidential Memoranda – None Vocational Assignments – None Educational Assignments – Transitions (20 hrs) Work Assignments – Auto Mechanics (6hrs) Self-Help and Rehabilitative – None The IP has been a participant in the Mental Health Services Delivery System (“MHSDS”) at the Correctional Clinical Case Management System (“CCCMS”) and Enhanced Outpatient Program (“EOP”) levels of care throughout this term. He has been EOP since 01/14/2026. Within CCCMS the IP has completed the following programming: anger management (3 hours), life skills (2 hours), mood management/education (2 hours), recreation and other therapeutic activities (10 hours), and stress management (1 hour). Case Factor #4 – Response to Legal Notice There were no responses to Legal Notices.

						SUMMARY: When reviewing all of the case factors as documented above, and taking into account the totality of the circumstances, including the passage of time, the Incarcerated Person's age (64 years old), and any physical and cognitive limitations, the factors aggravating the current risk of violence or significant criminal activity outweigh the factors mitigating the current risk of violence or significant criminal activity. To prepare for this review, the author reviewed the Disability and Effective Communication System as well as the Incarcerated Person's record to determine all physical and cognitive disabilities documented for this Incarcerated Person. In reaching the decision articulated below, the author fully considered any mitigating impact of each documented disability on all of the factors considered. While the IP's prior criminal record is a mitigating factor due to the absence of any violent felony convictions as defined by PC667.5(c) and the lack of incarceration for a felony conviction or misdemeanor conviction involving physical injury within 5 years of the conviction for the current crimes, the commitment offense along with the IP's negative institutional adjustment are a more recent and therefore more probative reflection of his current and unreasonable risk of violence. The dangerous nature of the commitment offenses is highly probative of the risk the IP currently poses to the public. Additionally, the IP has failed to sufficiently address the circumstances and salient issues contributing to his criminal behavior through sustained and successful participation in rehabilitative or self-help programming, nor has he participated in vocational, education or work assignments that will help him develop the pro-social behaviors and marketable skills needed to successfully re-integrate into the community. As a result, the IP has failed to mitigate the current risk to re-offend in a violent or threatening manner upon release. For these reasons and those addressed in this decision, the IP

						Between November 2015 and July 2016, IP broke into a number of residences and a commercial establishment and stole various items totaling approximately $138,000. On January 15, 2016, deputies approached a vehicle occupied by IP, who was seated in the driver's seat. The deputies attempted to make contact with IP, but she drove away from them. The deputies called for IP to stop, but she sped through a stop sign and continued down the road. They pursued IP as she drove on the wrong side of the road, traveled through stop signs at speeds in excess of 70 miles per hour. IP drove off the road into a field, her vehicle became stuck in the mud, she fled on foot and was apprehended shortly afterwards. When arresting IP, the deputies smelled the odor of alcohol emitting from her person. A subsequent blood sample determined IP's blood alcohol content to be .05%. On July 15, 2016, a deputy observed IP operating a vehicle. A search of the vehicle yielded several boxes of flooring, bolt cutters, numerous pieces of jewelry, leather gloves, pruning shears, and six baggies containing 22.2 grams of methamphetamine. The items were determined to have been stolen from a local residence. After careful review and consideration of the aggravating and mitigating circumstances in all of the current crimes, there are aggravating circumstances in the case and the following aggravating circumstance makes this an aggravating factor in the case: 1. There were one or more victims who suffered physical injury or threat of physical injury. The incarcerated person placed other motorists and pedestrians in harm's way, with threat of physical injury, when she drove recklessly in an attempt to evade capture. Therefore, the current commitment offense is found to be aggravating.

						The Board of Parole Hearings received responses to the legal notices regarding the Incarcerated Person's nonviolent review. The following responses were reviewed and considered in this decision: 1. The Mendocino County District Attorney's Office, dated March 24, 2023. SUMMARY: When reviewing all of the case factors as documented above, and taking into account the totality of the circumstances, including the passage of time, the Incarcerated Person's age (57 years of age), and any physical and cognitive limitations (3.8 RL, CCCMS), the factors aggravating the current risk of violence or significant criminal activity outweigh the factors mitigating the current risk of violence or significant criminal activity. To prepare for this review, the author reviewed the Disability and Effective Communication System as well as the Incarcerated Person's record to determine all physical and cognitive disabilities documented for this Incarcerated Person. In reaching the decision articulated below, the author fully considered any mitigating impact of each documented disability on all of the factors considered. Under the review criteria, the incarcerated person's current commitment offenses, prior criminal record, and institutional behavior are all case factors which aggravate the incarcerated person's current risk of violence. As there are no mitigating case factors present in this matter, the incarcerated person is inherently an unreasonable risk of violence or significant criminal activity to the community at this time. The incarcerated person's current offenses involved the threat of physical injury to victims. Further, the incarcerated person's prior criminal record demonstrates a pattern of assaultive behavior, and she was free from incarceration for less than two years before her current convictions. Lastly, the incarcerated person has incurred multiple recent Rules

						Violation Reports, including one resulting in threat of physical injury, and she has limited participation in self-help and rehabilitative programming to address the circumstances of her criminal behavior, such as substance abuse. For these many reasons, the incarcerated person poses a current, unreasonable risk of violence or a current, unreasonable risk of significant criminal activity to the community. The Incarcerated Person is denied for release. Neal Chambers
